

Title: Plaid Models for Gene Expression Data

Author(s): Laura Lazzeroni and Art Owen

Technical Report number (Dept. of Statistics, Stanford Univ.): 211

Date: June 2000

Abstract:

Motivated by genetic expression data, we introduce plaid models. These are a form of two-sided cluster analysis that allows clusters to overlap. Using these models we find interpretable structure in some yeast DNA data, as well as in some nutrition data and some foreign exchange data.